Occasion — Roosevelt Visits
Tomb of Napoleon.Paris, April 22.—President and Mme.
Fallieres tonight gave a gala dinner
of 104 covers at the Elysee palace in honor of Theodore Roosevelt. The entire palace was brilliantly illuminated,
and the republic guard lined the stairways. The assemblage was a notable one.President Fallieres took out Mrs.
Roosevelt, who looked charming in blue brocade gown, embroidered with gold and crystal ornaments, while Colonel Roosevelt escorted Mme. Fal-lieres. Miss Ethel Roosevelt, who wore a gown of pink satin, was escorted by M. Jusseland, the French ambassador to the United States.A Distinguished Company.
Among the other distinguished guests
were Ambassador and Mrs. Bacon,
former President and Mme. Loubet, Premier Briand, Foreign Minister and Mme. Fichon and other members of the cabinet and their ladies; M. Pailhau, governor of the Bank of France; General Dalstein, military governor of Paris; General Brugere, former commanding general of the army; General
Briand, minister of war; Leon Bourgeois,
ex-minister of foreign affairs; Louis Ranault, permanent delegate to the Hague tribunal from France; Baron d'Estournelles de Constant and the Baroness de Constant and Frank H.
Mason, the American consul general,
and Mrs. Mason. M. Croquet, dean of the faculty of letters of the Sorbonne;
Henry Barbaux, chief of the Corporation
of Barristers; Admiral Lepout and
M. Boutroux, professor of philosophy in the University of Paris.During the dinner, which was served in the gorgeous Salle des fetes, which is hung in priceless gobelins, the band of the republic guards rendered a musical program.Lifts Glasses in Guests' Honor.
In proposing Colonel Roosevelt's health, President Fallieres said:"I cannot allow the dinner to terminate without expressing my desire to offer a toast to Theodore Roosevelt—
an illustrious man who is at the same time, a great citizen, a great friend
of France and a great friend of peace.
I lift my glass also in honor of Mrs.
Roosevelt, to whom goes out the homage of our respectful sympathy. I congratulate myself at being able to tell our guests how happy we are to receive and fete them."Colonel Roosevelt replied in French, saying he was profoundly touched by the words of President Fallieres.Can Never Forget Welcome.
"Mrs. Roosevelt and I," continued
the American ex-president, "will never forget the welcome we have received in France, especially from you, Mr.
President.""Made to understand and to love
each other, our two countries have been friends since the beginning, and no doubt will always remain friends
in the future. Every civilized man who comes to France learns something,
because France is the cradle of modern civilization. Even today I have learned much, and one thing in particular which will appear in my lecture tomorrow.""I raise my glass in honor of the president of the republic and Mme.
Fallieres, whose grateful guests we are tonight."

Reception Follows Dinner.

A reception followed the dinner, to which many other notables of the French literary and scientific world
and a number of prominent persons of the American colony, including William K. Vanderbilt, were invited to meet Colonel Roosevelt. During the reception a literary and artistic program was rendered by artists from the Comedie Francaise and the opera.
Mary Garden and M. Saleza sang the duet from "Romeo and Juliet," and M.
Mounet-Sully and Mme. Bartet recited
selections from Victor Hugo's works.
At midnight a buffet supper was served.

Visits Tomb of Napoleon.

Colonel Roosevelt began his program of the day with a visit to the tomb of Napoleon in the Palais des Invalides. He was accompanied by a great crowd, which included
many photographers, who took snapshots as the party entered the Court
d'Honneur, where General Dalstein,
military governor of Paris, awaited
them.Passing first into the chapel, where there are the tattered battle flags captured in the Napoleon campaigns, Mr.

News Fell Like Explosion Up-
on Liverpool—English Houses
Rush Representatives to Alabama to Investigate.Liverpool, April 22.—There was a sensation in Cottonopolis today, born
of widely-circulated stories that forged
bills of lading for cotton, purporting to have been shipped from the United States had been uncovered. The alleged fraudulent methods, it was said,
involved cotton valued at $2,500,000,
and in addition to 30 Liverpool cot-
terns, it was stated that several continental cotton houses were heavy losers.False Bills of Lading.
The Echo says that the method of using the alleged false bills of lading
was to append fac simile carrier's signatures to bills of lading sent with drafts to this side before the cotton
was delivered by carriers and that importers in many cases paid such drafts.
When the practice was discovered the steamship companies withheld delivery until the bills of lading were verified. The Echo says that an investigation made by importers shows that not only were a number of these bills of lading spurious, but that there was actually no cotton against some of them.Sensational reports of the failure of the Alabama cotton firm of Knight, Yancey & Co., which heavily hit Liverpool cotton houses, added to the excitement.Short 39,000 Bales.
A cable dispatch from New Orleans,
which fell like an explosion of dynamite,
said that Knight, Yancey & Co. were short in Liverpool 39,000 bales; in Havre 8,000 bales, and in Genoa 6,000
bales. This would make a total loss of current quotations of over $3,000,- 000.In Liverpool 26 firms are believed to have been affected by the failure of the Alabama firm.
A majority of them, however, have large amounts of capital and will be able to tide over the situation, but a few of them will be seriously hit.
The heads of some of the houses in Liverpool will proceed to the United States by the first steamer available
in order to investigate the situation.
Loss as a result of the failure is likely to fall upon English bankers,
who are amply secured.No Great Effect on Prices.
While the cotton market today was deeply stirred by the situation, its effect upon prices was not great. The directors of the Liverpool Cotton Association during the day and discussed the affair. One result of this meeting has been to revive the movement initiated by the association in 1908 to follow the same practice as pertains in the corn trade in connection with the issue of bills of lad-ing.The hope is expressed here that the settlement of the affairs of Knight,
Yancey & Co. will realize $600,000.

ALL FOREIGNERS
ARE THREATENEDHankow, April 22.—The situation in Hunan province is reported as critical.
Women and children are fleeing for their lives from Changsha, the capital.
A number of villages near that city
have been reduced to ashes by native mobs. The country is plarced with threats to kill all foreigners.

Missionaries Lose Heavily.

This disquieting news was brought by missionary refugees who arrived
here today from Changsha and nearby missionary stations. Many of them had traveled 20 miles on foot and reached the Yangtze-Kiang river in rags. Their houses had been burned
and they lost all of their personal effects. The missionaries stated that gunboats in the river had their guns
trained upon Changsha and nearby
points, and have afforded a refuge
for many foreigners. Three thousand Chinese imperial soldiers are occupying the strategic points of the capital,
and detachments are being hurried to the outlying districts where rioting is reported.Many Chinese have been killed. In one instance a technical school was set afire and thirty students were burned
to death.When vessels approached Changsha
to rescue the imperilled ones, the Chinese mobs saturated the junks with kerosene oil from looted stations of the Standard Oil Company and setting them afire, allowed them to float
downstream in an attempt to fire the oncoming steamers.

Further Outrages Feared.

The viceroy of Hunan province and the governor of Changsha assert that they have the situation in hand, and that order is practically restored, but the missionaries say that they fear
further outrages.
The telegraph wires to the westward
of the disturbed districts have been cut. Many missionaries, American, French and Norwegian, remain at outlying posts.BOX OF CANDY

days after Dr. B. C. Hyde gave Miss Stella Swope a box of candy, the young woman developed typhoid fever,
according to Miss Anna Houlihan, a nurse, who was a witness in the Swope murder trial this afternoon. Thus,
for the first time in the investigation of the Swope tragedies, was the question of candy brought into the case.
The mention of the candy came as a surprise to Dr. Hyde and his counselors.

Question of Candy Disturbs Hyde.

Dr. Hyde, who was sitting tilted
back in his chair, smilingly listening to the testimony of the nurse, quickly
moved over to his attorneys and entered into a conference with them.
Mrs. Hyde soon joined the little group.
For several minutes they talked earnestly."It is a significant feature, but I cannot say just what will develop from an investigation of it," Special Prosecutor James A. Reed said later.Attorneys for Dr. Hyde said they did not regard the testimony seriously.

Gruesome Review by Witness.

The death of Christiana Swope and the illness of Margaret Swope were reviewed by Miss Anna Houlihan. She caused the threatened walk-out of the nurses at the Swope home and demanded an investigation of Dr. Hyde last December 18.Miss Houlihan was on the stand practically all day. Her story was long but interesting. It was filled with striking utterances and vivid descriptions.At times her testimony was gruesome. In telling of Dr. Hyde's actions after Christiana Swope had died, lying cross-wise of a bed, she said:Handled Dead Man Roughly.
Dr. Hyde grasped the dead man by the feet and turned him around in bed."How did he do it?" asked Attorney Reed.

"Roughly," she replied.

In attempting to imitate the moans
of Christiana and Margaret Swope, the witness gave utterance to a cry of anguish. Spectators, unaware of her intention to make the sound, rose quickly from their seats, thinking
some ill had befallen her.The description of two cases of convulsions showed marked similarity.
Miss Houlihan said the patients acted the same in many respects.Again today the corridors of the criminal court building were blocked with people, who were unable to gain
admission to the court room.DR. DAVIS HEADS

Subject of Lengthy DiscussionWashington, April 22.—Beginning its session at 11 o'clock today in an entanglement over the question of a quorum, the senate adjourned a few minutes before 5 because it was unable to muster a sufficient number of its members to continue business.

Traffic Agreements.

The debate on the section of the bill permitting the railroads to enter into traffic agreements continued
throughout the afternoon, the principal participants being Senators Crawford, Sutherland, Clapp, Cummins, Elkins
and Carter.For the most part the controversy partook of what to a layman would be considered hair-
splitting, the chief contention being
over the point as to whether the provision in the Crawford amendment making agreements "subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission" has the effect of requiring this approval before the agreements take effect.

Fail to Secure Vote.

After the pros and cons of this question had been presented at some length it appeared for a few moments
as though a vote might be obtained.
The eyes and noses had been ordered when Senator Dilliver expressed a desire to be heard on the amendment.
As he did not want to proceed at so late an hour some friendly senator
raised the point of no quorum.
Only forty-four senators responded to their names, and the senate was compelled to close its session at an earlier hour than Mr. Elkins desired.
He tried to obtain another order for an 11 o'clock meeting, but as the call of the senate was begun, he was ruled out of order.The senate will not meet tomorrow
until 12 o'clock, the usual hour.

Says Roosevelt Foremost Figure.

Quoting from the annual message
of President Roosevelt in 1906, in support of the proposition that the railroads should be permitted to enter into traffic agreements, Senator Crawford, of South Dakota, today asserted that Mr. Roosevelt was still a "living force, notwithstanding he may not be president.""It makes no difference," he said,
"whether he is in the jungles of Africa or in some discussion in Rome
or in Vienna, or Paris, or London,
he still is a living force, and I believe

United States District Attorney W. H.
Armbricht, of this city, was today appointed special assistant to the attorney general of the United States to prosecute Jesse H. and Daniel H.
Shreve, under arrest at San Antonio;
A. C. Shreve, Tuscaloosa; R. T. Shreve,
James E. Shreve, Hilliard Shreve,
George H. Shreve, John Johnson, William Franklin, at Montgomery, and Sam Copeland, at Scottsboro, Ala., whose arrests were effected simultaneously today on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the government.Indictments sworn out here charge that the defendants conspired, confederated and agreed to withhold from
the referee in bankruptcy of this district assets of the City Jewelry Company, of Montgomery, Ala., wilfully knowing of their whereabouts at the time.

Shipped Dummy Package.

It is alleged that the above parties
purchased from wholesale houses
throughout the United States valuable jewelry, silverware and other goods
with which to fill out a store of that,
and opened headquarters in Montgomery. It is alleged further that they shipped a dummy package supposed to be worth $20,000 to Greenville, Ala., the store of Daniel H. Shreve; that the store of Shreve at Greenville caught fire and was destroyed.The next move the defendants made,
according to the warrants, was to have someone throw them into involuntary bankruptcy, and in their schedule of assets they stated that their stock of goods had been destroyed.The United States authorities became suspicious of the company, and Kirk Labelle, a special agent of the department of justice, was sent here several months ago, and he has been quietly
working on the case for several months. An investigation brought a great deal of the stuff that was actually purchased in a store at Andalusia, Ala. This stuff is valued at $20,000.The fraud is said to be one of the tacking certain statements in Attorney General Wickersham's summary

of the Glavis case during cross-examination of a witness before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation today, Attorney Brandeis, counsel for L. R.
Glavis threw out a broad suggestion that the document had been dated
two months earlier than it had been prepared in order to make it appear that President Taft's letter of vindication to Secretary Ballinger had been based on the alleged facts it contained.

No Comment on Intimations.

At the White House and the department of justice it was stated that neither the president nor the attorney general would comment on Mr.
Brandeis' intimations.Comparatively little progress was made with the inquiry today, despite the apparently growing impatience of the committee and the general desire of the members to bring the hearing to a close. The committee probably will act tomorrow on the proposition
to hold hearing three days each week.

Finney on Stand.

E. C. Finney, assistant to the secretary of the interior, was under cross-examination during almost the entire
day. He admitted under questioning
by Mr. Brandeis that some of Mr.
Wickersham's statements were inaccurate, but insisted they were unin-portant.It was near the end of Finney's examination that Mr. Brandeis sprang his surprise. Mr. Wickersham, in his summary, says the suggestion that it was unlawful for Mr. Ballinger to have any professional relations with the Cunningham claimants because of his previous incumbency of the office
of commissioner of land office, was based on section 130 of the revised statutes and he cites laws to show that Mr. Ballinger had not violated that law.

Publication in Collier's.

Mr. Brandeis asked the witness if he did not know that Glavis accused Ballinger of violating that law for the first time in a statement published in a November number of Collier's Weekly. Mr. Finney was not certain at that point, whereupon Mr. Brandeis demanded to know if it was a fact that the statement, which purported to have been made on September 13, 1909, was not made until more than two months after that time. Mr.
Finney responded he did not know it
to be a fact and did not believe it

BRUTAL MURDER
RUTH WHEELERFight to Save Albert Wolter
From the Electric Chair
Fails.FIRST DEGREE VERDICT
RENDERED BY THE JURYClosing Chapter in Case Marked by Testimony of Defendant
and Brilliant Arguments by Opposing Counsel — Pathetic
Scenes in Court Room During Last Hours of Trial.New York, April 22.—Albert Wolter,
a degenerate youth of 19 years, who gloated over lewd pictures and was
"cray" about women, must die in the electric chair for the murder of Ruth Wheeler, a pretty 15-year-old stenographer. After only 1 hour and 50 minutes of deliberation, a jury in the court of special sessions, found him guilty of murder in the first degree at 10:30 o'clock tonight, bringing to a close a trial marked by its swift movement and its testimony of horror.

Wolter Evinces No Emotion.

The boy's counsel said with eloquence this afternoon that Wolter
was too tender-hearted to harm a cat,
but twelve men decided tonight that he strangled Ruth Wheeler and thrust
her, while yet alive, in his fireplace,
where, soaked with oil, her crumpled body writhed and burned. With the same wax-faced indifference that he had shown throughout the trial, Wolter, evinced no emotion when the verdict was announced. With almost inhuman complacency he had been asleep in his cell—and sleeping soundly—while the jury was deliberating
on his fate. This was made known by a court attendant who said that he had to rouse the prisoner to bring him into court. He will be sentenced on Wednesday.

Jurymen Showed Emotion.

The jurymen themselves showed emotion, while the boy who must die showed none. As the jurors filed in the prisoner was led into the room and took his seat facing the judge. His complexion is naturally unwholesome,
and his ashiness was accentuated by the brilliant lights of the court room.When asked if they had found a verdict, William V. Kulp, foreman of the jury, answered in a shaking voice,
"We have." He then announced he and his associates had found Wolter
guilty of murder in the first degree.
All eyes immediately shifted toward
the prisoner, but he was as stolid as a piece of wood. As he was being handcuffed to officers preparing to take him back to the Tombs, he glazed about him unconcernedly, then wobbled away with his custodians.

"I Don't Want to Talk."

No relatives of the murderer or of his victim were in court to hear the verdict. His aged parents were in court during the afternoon, but as he heard the decision which means death,
he was alone among strangers. Efforts were made to get a statement
from Wolter on his way to the Tombs,
but he refused to talk. "I don't want to talk tonight—I'm tired and I want to get a little good sleep first."

her body in the fireplace, Wolter cut where it was pushed into the yard below. He was arrested on Saturday, March 26, and was placed on trial on Monday last. He denied ever knowing Ruth Wheeler, but testimony showed that she had been lured to his room, expecting to obtain work as a stenographer. There Walter had attempted to criminally assault her and had murdered her in the struggle, strangling her with a rope tied about her neck.

Law Regarding Double Crime.
Judge Foster, in his charge, laid emphasis upon the provisions of the code that when a person is engaged in committing a criminal assault and commits murder, he is punishable for murder in the first degree.

"Ask yourselves," said the court, "who killed Ruth Wheeler? If you answer the defendant, ask yourselves was she killed by him while he was engaged in committing a felony upon her?"

"If you so answer in the affirmative, then you must find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree."

Last Chapter in Fight.
The last chapter in the fight to save Walter from the electric chair began at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon when Wallace D. Scott, his lawyer, began summing up for the defense. Both sides had rested at 10:30 o'clock after the shortest defense ever made in a notable case in New York. Walter himself was the chief witness, and remained on the stand three hours.

As Mr. Scott began, Walter's parents appeared in court for the first time since the trial began. The mother was dressed in deep black and she burst into convulsive sobbing as she saw her boy led into the room.

Walter Entirely Indifferent.
Walter's indifference during the trial, his calm facing of the grisly exhibits and his lack of emotion during the heart-rending testimony of Ruth Wheeler's death, the lawyer strove to emphasize as point in his client's favor. For this very indifference of the boy's innocence, if guilty he would not have been able to face the ordeal with such composure.

Argument of Defense.
"Circumstantial evidence is very dangerous evidence on which to convict," he went on. "Instances have occurred where men have been mistakenly convicted. This case has not been proven to kill a cat, let alone a human being."

He reviewed the testimony of Kate Gille, Walter's erstwhile girl neighbor, who occupied a room adjoining the apartment in which the murder was committed, and who was one of the two witnesses called for the defense. "The Gille girl testified she had heard no noise in Walter's apartment."

Attempt to Repute Burning Story.
"The Wheeler girl weighed about 120 pounds. It is not possible that she could have choked her and strangled her and suppressed any outcry. Moreover, it was impossible to burn a girl in that fireplace, and there is no evidence of anything used to burn the body with. There was no oil."

Police Methods Attacked.
The lawyer attacked police methods of the "third degree," and declared that the boy had been subjected "to all the ingenuities of the devil to bring a confession from him."

In conclusion, he maintained Walter had never seen Miss Wheeler in his life, but had written to her at the direction of one Ahner, a mysterious individual, who bobbed up for the first time today during the prisoner's testimony.

Seething Arrangement for Walters.
The assistant district attorney's arrangement of the prisoner during his summing up was seething.

"He is not a great criminal," said Mr. Moss. "He is a dangerous criminal—a porphyria and a scoundrel to the community."

Attorney Emotional.
Moss grew emotional as he talked and turned pleadingly to the jury. "I have no threat for human blood," he said, "but ask you in deciding this case, to think of the army of women who must go through their daily bread and must trust themselves to the honor of men whom they meet. They are entitled to be safeguarded by the community."

Charge to the Jury Brief.
Judge Foster's charge was brief, occupying in all but eighteen minutes.

"Ask yourselves," said the court, "who killed Ruth Wheeler. If you answer the defendant, ask yourselves was she killed by him while he was engaged in committing a felony upon her?"

"If you so answer in the affirmative, then you must find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree."

Walter took the stand as a witness shortly before noon today in his own defense for the killing of Ruth Wheeler.

Walter coolly testified that he had never written Ruth Wheeler in his life, had not even seen her, and had only written her name in his memorandum book at the request of Fred Ahner, who Walter said wanted to start a German stenographic school.

THREE-CORNER DEBATE IN TENTH

Augusta, Ga., April 22.—(Special.)—Oswell R. Eve, A. W. Evans and Thomas W. Hardwick met in joint debate in Lincoln hall Monday. These men are the three candidates for congress in the tenth.

Eve returned to the city today from a campaign trip into Lincoln. He found awaiting him Hardwick's letter, saying that the congressmen would be at Lincoln Monday and inviting Eve to jointly discuss with him the issues of the campaign.

Hardwick had also given an invitation to Evans. Immediately Eve wired that he would be on hand. A telephone message tonight to the Chronicle from Sandersville says that Evans has also accepted the Hardwick invitation.

The debate will be three-cornered. One orator and three inspectors took the census of the 375 inmates of the city stockade last night.

The work of taking the census began at 8:30 o'clock, immediately after the prisoners finished supper, and was completed shortly after 8 o'clock. There was little difficulty experienced in getting the necessary information.

The prisoners answered questions readily enough. Those taking the census were Enumerator P. J. Long and Inspectors W. Lee, L. D. White and W. L. Lovell. Census Supervisor L. F. McClelland announced that the census of all the hotels in Atlanta will be taken tonight.

DENIAL OF REPORT MADE BY HORTON BROTHERS

The Constitution has received the following card:

Editor Constitution: Our attention has recently been called to two articles in regard to the store rooms we built in Inman Park. We, therefore, ask you to make this correction.

It is true we built store rooms in Inman Park. It is also true that a few citizens objected. These are the only facts that got into the article. We write-up says that the people of Inman Park took out the plate glass in the stores as fast as we can replace them. A very good answer to this charge is the fact that the contractor has never so much as bought the plate glass to put in the stores. The same write-up says that the insurance agent has insured the glass. A number of agents have bought the business and same has been promised to one of them. It is said that the stores have been vacant for six months. The truth is, they were begun about February 1, and are not yet completed, and thus the misstatements continue throughout the article.

We believe that the alleged opposition has been greatly overdrawn by the papers. We doubt if there be a dozen of objecting families. The publication of objectors amount to about fifteen names, and we believe most of these are objectors in form and not substance. One of these gentlemen six months ago was about to build some store rooms within a few hundred feet of ours. Another one of these gentlemen endeavored to sell us a lot for store rooms in sight of our building. These are both prominent and highly respected citizens.

A prominent minister of the community recently called at our office and said that neither he nor his friends objected to the store and would patronize our tenants. Such statements are reputed to have been made recently by two gentlemen within a few hundred feet of the stores, and one of these gentlemen is very prominent.

We own almost a square in Inman Park, the same being surrounded by three streets, and the store rooms were well removed from all residences. We have beautiful and expensive stores in absolute keeping with the community, and since so doing the opposition which once existed seems to have almost vanished.

It is true that we built some store rooms on Peachtree street in Inman Park. It is also true that about twenty other stores were built on Peachtree in the residence section before we started ours. It is also true that we are building stores in Inman Park and it is also true that we found about fifteen store rooms in that community completed before we began ours. Some store rooms have just been completed within a few feet of ours. When all of these stores were going up we heard no kicks. Our Inman Park neighbors are good people, but they are not the only good people in Inman Park.

The people of Inman Park have not inspired the stories which have been printed. If Inman Park were lawless enough to frighten off insurance men they would be slow to publish it. The people of Inman Park are high-toned and honorable people and would stoop to no such thing as to commit the slightest trespass. Not even the boys would do that. It is true that the stores are not rented, but we are negotiating with several parties who contemplate renting them, and we trust we will be able in due season to secure not only satisfactory tenants to ourselves, but entirely acceptable to the splendid community which they would hope to serve.

WILL TAKE CENSUS OF HOTELS TONIGHT

One enumerator and three inspectors took the census of the 375 inmates of the city stockade last night.

The work of taking the census began at 8:30 o'clock, immediately after the prisoners finished supper, and was completed shortly after 8 o'clock. There was little difficulty experienced in getting the necessary information.

SUCCESS SCORED BY "JAPPYLAND"

Winning its way into the heart of a big audience on the second night's performance, and repeating the triumph of the opening night, "Jappyland" will this afternoon at the matinee hour, unfold itself before an audience in the Grand which promises to tax the seating capacity, concluding the most successful effort ever launched in Atlanta by amateurs.

Fairly radiating with Atlanta's most beautiful young girls, and vibrating at every point with music and color, it has been said on all sides that the opera is in a class with the best musical comedies presented in Atlanta during the past season. It was quite difficult for those who have seen "Jappyland" to believe that they were not witnessing the work of professionals, so well did each individual in the cast carry out his or her part.

This reflects untold credit upon the enthusiasm of the young people in working hard at a numerous rehearsal and upon Director Edward H. Coates and Miss Thelma Gilmore, who trained the principals and choruses. Officers of the Uncle Remus Memorial Association, under whose auspices "Jappyland" is being given, for the benefit of the Uncle Remus memorial, are highly elated over the success being met. They feel that the production in itself is worthy of patronage.

Miss Thelma Gilmore, of New York, who appears in the play as Sang Foy, American heiress in Japanese disguise, and who appears in several of the choruses, is being widely talked about over her exceptionally fine work.

The appearance of Miss Louise Van Harlingen, as Dorothy, an American girl, is a feature of the opera. Singing "The Garden of Dreams" and "Love's Confession," she won the audience and demonstrated the fine quality of her voice.

The grand opening chorus of the Gaiety maids, the dance of the Cordeliers, the Spanish Love Dance, the Colleen, the Pagoda maids, the Western Girls, all present striking pictures of loveliness and perfect training for the "Rah Rah Boys" from Tech made a great hit and received encore after encore.

The sale of tickets for the closing performance at the matinee hour indicates that "Jappyland" will come up to all the expectations of the Uncle Remus Memorial Association.

BARTOW MAN SHOT TO DEATH

Bartow, Ga., April 22.—(Special.)—In a dispute over some tools, which took place at the Bartow Lumber Company tonight, Bob Stafford, a workman, shot and killed Charlie Foreels, a machinist. A posse is after Stafford, and it is thought he will be caught before morning.

Foreels was shot five times, and died instantly. He was a brother of Mrs. W. F. Baker, of Cartersville, and formerly resided at Acworth.

JAMES H. NUNNALLY HEADS HORSE SHOW

Succeeds John K. Ottley, Who Becomes Vice President.

After having reluctantly accepted the resignation of J. K. Ottley, the directors of the Atlanta Horse Show Association yesterday afternoon elected J. H. Nunnally to succeed Mr. Ottley as president of the association. Then, in spite of his protests, Mr. Ottley was elected vice president.

Mr. Ottley's resignation, which was tendered several days ago, came as the result of a decision on his part that he will be unable to devote the proper time to his affairs as president on account of business obligations. At the meeting Friday, the resignation was reluctantly accepted after every effort to cause Mr. Ottley to reconsider had failed. Mr. Ottley stated that he felt that, in justice to himself and the association, he could no longer fill the position. Business obligations, he said, prevented his giving the proper time to his duties as president.

When it was seen that he was not to be shaken from the position, the directors unanimously elected Mr. Nunnally to succeed him. However, Mr. Ottley was not allowed to sever his connection with the association, as he was immediately elected first vice president.

At this meeting, L. J. Daniel was elected third vice president. The executive committee was also chosen. It consists of Brooks Morgan, E. E. D. Bose, F. M. Inman, D. N. McCullough, Austell Thornton, C. H. Black, R. C. Congdon and R. T. Pace.

LIVERPOOL HOUSES HIT FOR $2,500,000

LIST OF LIABILITIES GIVEN BY COMPANY
Huntsville, Ala., April 22.—Expected developments in the Knight, Yancey & Co. bankruptcy case have not materialized today. It is the biggest case of the kind that has ever come up in this section, and cotton men have not recovered from the blow. Many cotton firms who sold their crops to the firm have lost large sums; the bulk of the firm's business was done with cotton brokers abroad, but New York firms were interested to the following extent as shown by the list of liabilities:

Henry Hentz & Co., $125,000; Hubbard Bros., $44,000; Dick Bros. & Co., $26,000; Miller & Co., $26,000; Springs & Co., $228,000. Hentz & Co. and Hubbard Bros. are protected by ample securities. A Philadelphia insurance agency has a credit of $39,903 on the schedule of liabilities.

Cotton dealers abroad who honored drafts for amounts given, and for which there are no records of cotton shipped are: Liverpool, Tuckniss, Carr & Co., for nine customers, 278,524 pounds sterling; T. Hugh Jones, 114,181 pounds sterling; Glencoe, 106,515 pounds sterling; Cotton Commission Company, Bremen, Germany, 149,264 pounds sterling and 1,849,560 marks; Schenkt & Co., Havre, 279,761 francs; Latham & Co., Havre, $10,213.

As stated in Knight, Yancey & Co.'s petition, there is evidence that a great number of spurious bills of lading were sent out and drafts honored for them. This paper may be scattered throughout the cotton world, and in that event the losers may not find them out for months to come. No attempt is made to designate what bills of lading issued from the office of the firm are false, because the petitioners do not know them. This will make it a big job for the referee. C. E. Frost, one of the receivers appointed by Judge Grubb, filed bond for $100,000 in the court today and qualified to begin his duties.

LIABILITIES OF FIRM REACH $6,000,000
Decatur, Ala., April 22.—All kinds of sensational reports are afloat in the two Decatur today concerning the failure of Knight, Yancey & Co., cotton merchants, for nearly $6,000,000. However, none of these reports can be substantiated. John W. Knight, the head of the Decatur office of the company, made the following statement today, the first that has been made since the failure:

"The whole matter is in the hands of the court for the adjudication, and all of the property of the firm, the books, records, etc., have been turned over to the receiver in bankruptcy, J. H. Murphy, at Huntsville, and a thorough investigation will be made immediately."

"Further than this I have nothing to say for publication at this time." Several depositors in the banks of Decatur and New Decatur, who had heard that these banks were in a bad condition on account of the failure of Knight, Yancey & Co., called for their money, but when they were shown that the banks had plenty of cash they did not draw out their deposits.

Banks Will Not Suffer.
Every effort to solve the real cause of the failure has failed, and it is quite likely that the real facts will not be known until the matter comes up and is settled in the bankruptcy court at Huntsville. According to the best of information obtained, none of the depositors in southern banks will suffer by the failure.

Mr. Knight spent the day in his office here and with friends in the city. From his conversation and from his manner he is confident that the matter will be shown up clearly to the satisfaction of the public, and that it will be found that he is not responsible for the failure. No one is in a position to give positive proof of the charges that the bogus bills of lading have been issued, but rumor from various sources say they have. Mr. Knight would say nothing concerning these reports.

ENGLISH AGENTS MAKE INVESTIGATION OF FAILURE
Birmingham, Ala., April 22.—A number of legal and other representatives of English and American cotton firms are in Birmingham, making an investigation into the recent filing of a voluntary petition in bankruptcy by the big cotton firm of Knight, Yancey & Co., of Decatur, Ala., with branches in Selma, Mobile and Memphis. Among those here are representatives of Minoprio-Forgan & Co., Liverpool; Baker, Patton & Co., New Orleans; J. J. Williams, Cotton Company, of Liverpool; Williams & Wilson, of Galveston; Alexander Eccles & Co., of Liverpool; Pennafather & Co., of Liverpool; and E. C. Worrell, of Galveston.

There is some intimation handed out that legal representatives are investigating the presence of forged bills of lading for cotton. The representatives here are just from Decatur, and the statement is made that very little information was secured from the firm. A number of transactions are under careful investigation, the outcome of which is not intimated.

Crooked Transactions.
Mobile, Ala., April 22.—J. Buck, president of the City Bank and Trust Company of this city, one of the creditors of the bankrupt cotton firm of Knight, Yancey & Co., is authority for the statement that the alleged crooked transactions of J. W. Knight was due to forged bills of lading.

It was rumored that there were forged warehouse receipts in this city, but the banks, who were notified two days before the failure was announced, had a most sweeping search made, but found none.

The discovery of the condition of the firm's affairs has due, it is said, to an automobile accident that happened at Decatur, Ala., that kept Mr. Knight away from the office. When the demands were made on the firm they could not be met.

MR. J. M. GRAY

Has Been a Resident of Atlanta for 15 Years, and Has Been in the Insurance Business.—Stands Well and Is a Man of Honesty and Integrity.

Editor Constitution: I was attracted by the advertisement of Respass & Co. in regard to Kimberly, Nevada, the advertisement appearing in The Constitution, several of which I read, and, becoming interested, I went around to their offices in the Candler building to see them. They were very much interested over their possibilities at Kimberly, claiming that their advertisement was nothing more than the gospel truth. It seemed to me to be impossible for their statements to be facts, so I decided to go to Kimberly and verify their statements. I left home on the 7th of April and arrived at Battle Mountain, Nevada, on the 11th, which is eighteen miles from Kimberly. I stayed over night in Battle Mountain. On the morning of the 12th I went to Mr. C. Scully's office, an associate of Respass & Co., who is a well-known and highly experienced miner, having worked the mines at Goldfield and other famous places. He impressed me as being an honest, upright, conscientious man, with no stories to tell that would mislead anyone. He took me in his automobile to Kimberly, which is about an hour and a half ride. He pointed out the gold properties and claims owned by Respass & Co. and his associates. He was forced to say that the gold in the hills of Kimberly more than substantiates every statement made by Respass & Co. in their advertisement in The Constitution. The mountain is simply perforated with gold, and I felt like writing the famous message "I saw, I believe." There I was in the midst of more gold than I ever dreamed existed. I had read the "Arabian Nights" when a boy, but never before did I realize that there could be an "open sesame" so fully corresponding with the stories of the "Arabian Nights." But here it was; the gold was on the right of me, gold was on the left of me, gold in front of me, gold behind me; gold over my head and gold under my feet; in fact, there was gold everywhere that I chanced to look. I picked up "grab" samples from the dumps from which I panned out gold. Hundreds of tons of ore are piled out on the sides of the mountains which was taken from the excavations of the tunnels and shafts. Now, this is no exaggeration—I saw piles of gold ore on the dumps that would simply have to make a guess as to the number of tons of gold ore lying there. I was simply amazed at the work that had been done in the sinking of shafts and digging of tunnels over the claims of Respass & Co. and their associates. We went from one mine to another, extending from one side of the mountain to the other, and in all places I picked "grab" samples, and it was a revelation to me to see the gold found in every sample after being panned. In going from one mine over to another along the sides of the mountain where roads were being graded we picked up a sample of dirt from the road, panned it out and found fine specimens of gold. In fact, Kimberly is simply a mountain of gold ore. Let the "doubting Thomases" visit Kimberly, thrust their heads in their tunnels and they will see for themselves the gold; let him stick his fingers in the dumps and he will find gold. There is no limit to the quantities of gold ore in Kimberly. Just as Stone Mountain is a wonder to the granite world, so will Kimberly be a wonder to the gold world. The fame of Kimberly will soon circle the globe. All talk about salting Kimberly is nonsense. There isn't money enough in all the banks of Georgia to salt the hills of Kimberly. No man can estimate the millions of gold that will be taken from Kimberly. Respass & Co. and their associates have made arrangements to have a 1,000-ton daily capacity mill in operation by October 1, and a 2,000-ton daily capacity mill in operation by January 1, and if work continues as it is at present there is no doubt but what their arrangements will materialize. The company also owns the town site of Kimberly and the water power.

Regarding Conduct of George Washington University.

Washington, April 22.—As a result of sensational statements made before the house committee on the District of Columbia, regarding the conduct of the affairs of the George Washington University of this city, there may be a congressional investigation of the matter.

Dr. Phillips, former dean of the medical school of the university, charged today that the university endowment fund of $200,000, which he designated as a "sacred trust," only the interest from which fund was to be used, had been dissipated in the payment of the annual deficit, until but $16,000 remained of the original bequest. This remaining $16,000, he said, was represented only by a promissory note on some Washington property owned by President Needham of the university, which he valued at $5,000.

GLADNESS COMES

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of illness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the only remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is, therefore, all-important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to purchase and note that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

It is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and assists in overcoming habitual constipation permanently, also biliousness and the many ills resulting therefrom. The great trouble with all other purgatives and aperients is not that they fail to act when a single dose is taken, but that they act too violently and invariably tend to produce a habit of body requiring constantly augmented doses. Children enjoy the pleasant taste and gentle action of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the ladies find it delightful and beneficial whenever a laxative remedy is needed, and business men pronounce it invaluable, as it may be taken without interfering with business and does not grip nor nauseate. When buying note the name, California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of every package. Price, 50 cents a bottle.

MARK CLEMENS' FUNERAL SIMPLE

Body Will Rest by Side of Wife.

Wish of Family That Services Be Brief.—Dr. Henry Van Dyke, of Princeton, to Preach Funeral Sermon—Expressions of Grief Universal.

New York, April 22.—A simple funeral over the body of Samuel L. Clemens will be held in this city tomorrow afternoon. The body will then be taken to Elmira, N. Y., where it will be buried beside those of his wife and children.

F. A. Duneka, of Harper & Bros., Mr. Clemens' publishers, said it was the wish of the family that the services be as brief as possible. Later a public memorial service will be held in some large hall.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke, of Princeton university, will preach the funeral sermon tomorrow at the Brick Presbyterian church, Thirty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, at 3 o'clock. The funeral, Mr. Duneka said, would be of a semi-public nature, but attended only by relatives and close friends of the dead author. There will be no pallbearers, and although final arrangements have not been made, the service probably will consist merely of a short address by Dr. Van Dyke. There probably will be no music. The body will be brought to New York from Redding, Conn., tomorrow in a special car.

Another service at Elmira. After the funeral here the dead author will be taken to Elmira, where another service, as simple as the one here, will be held. This service probably will be at the home of General Langdon, a relative by marriage, and so far as is now known, will consist simply of a short address by Joseph Twitwell, of Hartford, Conn., who is one of Mr. Clemens' oldest friends. From the Langdon home the body will be removed to the cemetery.

No arrangements have been made for the public memorial service. Mr. Duneka said it probably would be held in a week or ten days in this city. It is felt by Mr. Clemens' relatives that some such service should be held at which the public may gather, as a sign of affection for the dead humorist.

MANY EXPRESSIONS OF GRIEF HEARD FROM COUNTRYSIDE

Redding, Conn., April 22.—News of the death of Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) at Storrsfield did not reach the countryside until the morning papers arrived. Expressions of grief were then heard on all sides. Several neighbors who stood close to him in life were permitted to view the body as it lay in bed.

Mr. Clemens did much of his work in bed, and in death he still seemed a part of the surroundings of his active life. Ranged about him were his books. Beside him was his tobacco set with its tobacco jar, collection of pipes, a stand of cigars and matches in abundance. Above his head was a reading lamp. In the old days he had heartily cursed all chamber maids because of their hostile ideas of tidiness.

"Twain's bedside table," said a maid, "was always put the pillow on the opposite end of the bed from the gas burner," he wrote, "so that while you read and smoked before sleeping, as is the ancient and honorable custom of bachelors, you would not have a box aloft in an uncomfortable position to keep the light from dazzling your eyes. If they cannot get the light in an inconvenient position any other way, they move the bed. They always put the match box in some other place. They hunt up a new place for it every day and put up a bottle or other perishable glass thing where the box stood before. This is to cause you to break that glass thing. They always save up all the old scraps of printed rubbish you have thrown on the floor and stand them up carefully on the table and start the fire with your valuable manuscripts."

Body Rests Amongst Disorder.

In later years Mark Twain had been spared all such small discomforts. He lay today among all the luxuries of disorder that he loved. Death, that bachelors face with indignity, had left nothing but nobility on his. There were no lines of pain, no hint of sadness—nothing but serene benignity.

SAN FRANCISCO'S OLD-TIMERS CONJURE UP REMINISCENCES

San Francisco, April 22.—San Francisco's "old-timers" are conjuring up reminiscences galore on the days fifty years ago when Samuel L. Clemens was plain Sam Clemens and the name Mark Twain had little significance for anybody except steamboat men on the Mississippi river.

"Back in the old days," muses John T. Goodman, the pioneer editor of the west, who gave Clemens his first job as a writer, "Sam was the best company, the driest, the funniest and the most interesting fellow imaginable. His humor was always creeping out and stayed with him to the last. A few weeks ago I received a letter from him couched in terms so characteristic of him. He wrote: 'Come on and visit me once more before we get so old we can't hear each other swear.'"

"It was my privilege to read many of his works in manuscript before they were sent to the publishers. I recollect his giving me the manuscript of 'Roughing It' to read one afternoon when I was visiting him in the early seventies. He made a great hit with 'Innocents Abroad,' and he was afraid he would not sustain his newly acquired reputation. When I began to read Sam sat down at his desk and wrote nervously.

"For an hour I read along intently, hardly noticing that Sam was beginning to fret and shift about uneasily. At last he could not stand it any longer, and jumping up he exclaimed: 'D—d you, you have been reading that stuff an hour and you haven't cracked a smile yet! I don't believe I'm keeping you my lick.'"

FORMER PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT GRIEVED BY DEATH OF CLEMENS
Paris, April 22.—Former President Roosevelt was greatly pained to hear of the death of Mark Twain. He said: "It is with sincere grief that I learned of the death of this great American author. His position, like that of Joel Chandler Harris, was unique, not only in American letters, but in the literature of the world."

"He was not only a great humorist, but a great philosopher and his writings form one of the assets in American contributions to the world, of achievement of which we have a right,

FEW FARMERS RETURNING THEIR DOGS FOR TAXATION

"The city folks may turn in their dogs for taxation, but the folks in the country ain't goin' to do it," said a farmer in the tax receiver's office yesterday. They don't think the dogs are worth it, and they know that there is no effectual way to enforce the law.

"What's the state going to do if they don't list their dogs? They can't levy on property for the tax, and the dog himself ain't worth levying on. It wouldn't do them any good to shoot the dog, and if they take him away from the owner the state will have to feed them."

And that seems to express in a nutshell the opinion of many people; and the scarcity of returns for dogs would indicate that a good many people are not thinking seriously of paying the special tax on dogs. So far, it is true, about 60 per cent of those making returns have given in their dogs for taxes; but, just as the man from the country said, they are "mostly city folks."

"Every once and a while," said the tax receiver, "a countryman comes in and registers four or five dogs; but generally it is the city people who make returns for dogs."

So far, less than a thousand dogs have been registered. Many people feel that when they pay a dollar as a special dog tax they are giving something for nothing. The tax does not entitle them to a tag for the dog, nor, in fact, give them anything in return. It does not make the dogs property, either, for the tax is the same on all kinds, breeds and varieties of dogs.

What is a dog, anyway? According to some of the returns and some of the answers, certain species of canines are not "dogs."

"Have you any dogs?" inquired the tax receiver of a man who was making property returns.

"No, sir, ain't got no dogs. Ain't got a thing but four old dog-eared hounds."

CHILDREN LOOT CHURCH AND POLICE ARREST THEM

A little girl and a youth, sister and brother, were arraigned in the police court yesterday morning on the charge of having entered the Church of the Immaculate Conception, corner of Central avenue and Hunter streets, and carrying off some of the robes of the priests and the "poor box," in which small contributions had been placed by members of the church.

The prisoners were Carrie Justice, aged 11, and Will Justice, aged 15, children of W. J. Justice, of 111 Nelson street.

At the same time there was arraigned Mabel Justice, the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. Justice, who was said to be roaming the streets at night. It was alleged that Carrie and Will

Dropsy—Given up by Doctor

"I had dropsy, and was told by my family physician that there was no chance for me. My family also gave me up. My limbs and body were swollen one-third larger than natural, water collected around my heart and I had to be propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy until I was entirely cured. This was in 1902, and I am now able to do any kind of work on my farm. My cure was certainly marvelous."

L. TURLEY CURD, Wilmore, Ky.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been wonderfully successful in relieving heart trouble. Its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles is a great factor in assisting nature to overcome heart weakness.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is sold by all druggists. If the first bottle does not benefit, your druggist will return your money.

Injured in Runaway.

Fitzgerald, Ga., April 22.—Mrs. John Earnest met with an accident which resulted in painful bruises. For some reason the spirited horse she was driving started to run. Fearing he would smash into a load of wood just ahead, Mrs. Earnest reined to one side. Having been trained on the race track, the horse took this as a signal to distance the horse ahead, and struck a pace entirely beyond Mrs. Earnest's control. Turning a corner, the buggy struck a telephone pole, throwing the occupants out and leaving her unconscious. The horse ran several blocks, trying twice to reach his own stable, but was frightened away by well-intentioned people trying to stop him. He was finally captured a short distance in the country and brought home. Mrs. Earnest is resting easily now, and may not be seriously hurt.

SHARP WORDS BETWEEN PREACHER AND OFFICER

A very heated colloquy which may end by an official investigation, occurred yesterday morning at the police barracks between Rev. William Dunbar, pastor of the Payne Memorial Methodist church, and Probation Officer James Gloer.

Despite the fact that one of the gentlemen in the warm passage of words was a minister of the gospel and the other a peace officer, it looked very much as if the heated words would lead to a personal encounter.

When the talk was most torrid each speaker charged the other with not having acted like a gentleman.

When it was all safely over, Mr. Dunbar said he would probably have the police commission investigate the conduct of the probation officer.

Preacher Visited Police Court.
The affair grew out of Rev. Dunbar visiting the police court, merely as a spectator, and then taking an interest in the cases of a little boy and two little girls, who were charged with entering a church and taking away some of the fixtures. Mr. Dunbar, when he heard that the girls would be sent to a home of some kind, went to talk with Probation Officer Gloer about it.

The officer soon charged the preacher was talking to him in a disrespectful manner. The preacher said he was not being treated in a respectful manner. "One word led on to another," as the saying goes, and soon the preacher said:

"It is the duty of public officers to treat citizens like gentlemen."

"I do when I am treated like a gentleman," retorted the officer.

Some Pretty Sharp Words.

"You haven't treated me like a gentleman," said the preacher.

"You haven't treated me like a gentleman," said the officer.

Mr. Dunbar continued to talk and at last Mr. Gloer, who seemed to be busy,

said:

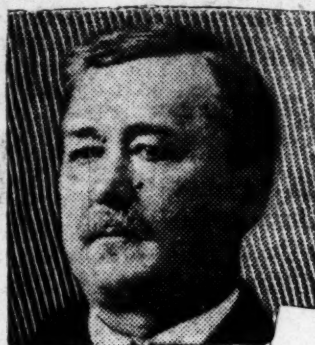

"I do not want to hear any more from you sir."

Mr. Dunbar arose to go and as he did so he said:

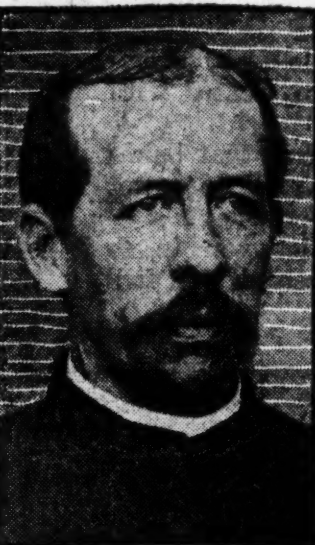

"You will hear from me later about this matter."

The preacher explained to a reporter of The Constitution that he would probably have the police commission investigate the way Officer Gloer had treated him.

Mr. Gloer stated afterwards that Mr. Dunbar went into his office and began

PEOPLE ARE SLOW IN TAX RETURNS

According to Tax Receiver T. M. Armistead, the state and county tax returns are far behind this year and he urges that everybody begin to make their returns as soon as possible.

"We are far behind last year's returns," said Mr. Armistead. "We are receiving scarcely 150 returns a day, and we should be receiving from 250 to 300 every day." So far only about 4,100 returns have been made.

Last year at this same time many more returns were being made, the tax receiver said. The only reason that he can give for the delinquency this year is that no public advertisement has been made that the tax books are now open, the commissioners having failed to make an appropriation as yet for advertising purposes.

The tax receiver says that he would like to impress upon the people the old advice, "Come early and avoid the rush."

WHITEHALL PRICES RAPIDLY RISING

J. R. Smith, the well-known capitalist, yesterday sold to Adolph and Sig Samuels the lot at 565 Whitehall street for $15,000, or $250 per front foot, a record price for this vicinity.

The lot is located on the west side of Whitehall street just opposite Stewart avenue. It has a frontage of 80 feet on Whitehall and a depth of 190 feet. Less than six months ago Mr. Smith bought the property for $10,000. By its sale he cleared 50 per cent on his investment in less than six months. The purchasers state that while the property was bought primarily as an investment, improvements will be made at no distant date. They believe that this section is destined to become one of the great wholesale districts of the city and that increases in values in this vicinity are certain.

It is understood that J. R. EVERGREEN LAWNS

How does your lawn or grass plot show up, now that we have had a certain amount of grass-growing weather? Is it velvety and smooth, an ideal lawn, or is it full of bare spots where the grass has died out, giving it a ragged, unsightly appearance?

If your lawn is in that shape, scatter seed of Hastings' Evergreen Lawn Mixture on the bare spots, scratch in with a rake, and the bare spots will soon be covered with green.

Our Evergreen Mixture is made up especially to give results in this part of the south. Pound, 25 cents; bushel (14 pounds), $2.50. We have at all times special lawn fertilizers. Lawns need feeding regularly. Do you feed yours?

Some Reasoning About
UNCLE SAM BREAD

The reason you cannot equal Uncle Sam Bread with home baking is that you have not the time, the strength, nor the facilities. Time means one hour for kneading—we do this with a tireless automatic mixer. You tire in ten minutes, and take a chance on the result. We bake in double-deck, draw-plate, dust-proof ovens, heated with steam. You bake in dry heat, that bakes the crust to a crisp, and does not penetrate the center of the loaf. Next week we'll let you in to some more bread secrets, if you will listen.

SAYS ROOSEVELT
A LIVING FORCE

he will continue to be so long as he lives.

Roosevelt Put Life Into Legislation.
Mr. Crawford was speaking in support of his amendment to the railroad bill permitting the railroads to enter into such agreements. He asserted that Mr. Roosevelt was the foremost figure in the United States, and gave credit to him for putting more life into the legislation for railroad legislation than anyone else, and forcing congress to act.

"Bold Knight" of His Time.
The ex-president was lauded as the "bold knight" of his time, who led the fight for the reform and the commendation of the specific legislation in question was held up as worthy of all emulation and imitation. "I have been a follower of his, and still am," said Mr. Crawford as he proceeded with his quotations.

Senator Crawford quoted from two other messages of President Roosevelt and contended that the republican platform of 1908, declaring for agreements subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission, was in accord with the Roosevelt views.

Senator Clapp pointed out that Mr. Roosevelt's legislation had specifically favored the "previous" approval of the commission.
Mr. Crawford asserted that no lawyer of standing would contend that under the pending amendment working agreements subject to the approval of the commission would be effective without such approval. Mr. Clapp undertook to say that both Senators Aldrich and Elkins had so construed the possibilities, but in reply to a question from Mr. Crawford, Mr. Elkins said he had been incorrectly quoted.

"THE INDIFFERENT MAN,"
SUBJECT OF SERMON

Rev. Lincoln McConnell Scores Ministers and Laymen for This Fault.

A large audience, composed mainly of officials of the Atlanta Methodist churches, listened with interest to Rev. Lincoln McConnell's sermon on "The Indifferent Man" in Wesley Memorial church last night.

In the course of his talk Mr. McConnell scored ministers and laymen alike for the besetting sin of indifference. His words aroused great enthusiasm among his hearers, many of whom pledged themselves to use their personal efforts in an endeavor to make the remaining services even more successful than the former ones.

Mr. McConnell will speak to a mass meeting of women at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Wesley Memorial church, taking for his subject "A Beautiful Woman."

THE WEATHER TODAY:
RAIN AND COOLER

Spring is Now Making Another Bow to Atlanta.

Nobody has any complaint to make of the weather man now, even though it may rain and turn a little cooler this afternoon, as the weather man suggests. The worry about the possibilities of frost have passed away and the beautiful weather of yesterday put everybody in a laughing, good humor.

Spring is making another bow to Atlanta. She has robed herself for the occasion in a new gown of beauty, and the warmth of her smile, the sunshine, draws forth a responsive smile from all who watch her coming.

For the level, how do you reckon that woman get next to the earth again? queried the prophet of his best friend, the city hall reporter, yesterday.

"You know I can't figure it out yet, and all my friends are giving me the ha ha. Some of them have kept the phone so busy that we can't transact any business here."

"When I looked out the window and saw the balloon come floating by with a lady sitting in a trapeze, suspended from it, I almost had heart failure. And when I called my friends to the window and asked them to take a peep and help me figure out a quick descent for the lady of aerial fancy, all I got was laughter for my natural kindness of heart."

"How was I to know that the lady was only a dummy, and in no need of assistance. Somewhere have read the passage that we should judge the will of a man and not his deeds, and so it seems to me that some of my friends should have patted me on the back in a good-fellow-sort of a way and commended me for my natural kindness of heart."

"Any way you put it, this is a hard world and a mighty thankless one."

A GALA DINNER
FOR ROOSEVELT

Roosevelt kept up a running fire of comment and exchange with General Dabney concerning incidents of the various battles. When, however, the retort beyond was reached and Mr. Roosevelt looked down upon the magnificent red marble tomb of the conqueror, surrounded with the flags of Austria and other reminders of the great victories of Friedland, the pyramids, Jena, Marengo and Moscow, the former president grew strangely silent.

Sees Napoleon's Sword and Hat.
A few moments later the party descended to the crypt through which they entered the tomb, over the door of which Mr. Roosevelt read the words of Napoleon, written at St. Helena, and in which the great general expressed the desire that his ashes rest on the banks of the Seine. Here in a niche was shown Napoleon's celebrated sword and black hat contained in a glass case, which the English general placed over the grave of St. Helena, but upon which he refused to permit Napoleon's name to be inscribed.

"Extraordinary! Extraordinary!" Mr. Roosevelt ejaculated several times.

WINGED MERCURY OUTDONE; OFFICER AND HIS BICYCLE FAIRLY FLY OVER AN AUTO

With the ease that a fox-hunting horse vaults a high fence with its rider in the saddle, the bicycle of Police Officer J. B. Bishop is said to have carried him over an automobile Wednesday night.

The seemingly impossible feat was accomplished as a last resort to prevent a collision. Rider and wheel landed right side up on the other side of a breathless auto driver, and kept going as if nothing had happened.

As "flying" as the story may seem, its authenticity is vouched for by no other person than Call Officer Bishop himself, who regards it as one of the miracles that fate sometimes performs. It all happened so quickly that he cannot attempt to explain how the feat was done. The automobile was in the way, Bishop was going fast; it was either vault or collide. He vaulted.

Very much like the man who once rose in the air by pulling on his boot straps, Bishop pulled on the handle bars of his bicycle, and safely over the automobile he went.

Bishop and his companion, Call Officer Howard Bentley, were answering a burglar call at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night, when the jump over the car was made. The two officers were "burning the wire" out South Pryor street, for they had been told by telephone that the burglar had locked a woman in an upstairs room of her home and was ransacking the house.

At the corner of South Pryor street and Tennessee avenue, Dr. Virgil Cooke runs a drug store. As the two officers, Bentley in the lead, with Bishop several yards behind, were wheeling down the street, Dr. Cooke stepped in his open runabout automobile in front of his drug store, and began to start off.

Bentley, ringing his bell, passed safely by. Dr. Cooke began to turn his machine around, and was at right angles to the sidewalk and stationary as Bishop came up.

At this point in Pryor street there is a steep grade, and Bishop was "going some." He rang his bell wildly, but it was impossible for Dr. Cooke to "move a peg" in time to prevent a collision.

It was impossible for the officer to turn one way or the other. To go straight on meant a serious collision. To go up or down, then, was the only safe course left open. The latter was impracticable because of the hard street.

Phenomenon. In the twinkling of a moment in which Bishop had to decide, he pulled hard on the handle bars, gathered himself up as best he could and says he thought with all his might of jumping a high fence. He had sub-consciously chosen to take the "up" course, and the psychic phenomenon resulted.

The bicycle made a clean leap over the auto, landed right side up, and Officer Bishop moved on. The terrified autoist, crouching low in his seat, was only able to gasp:

"Great Scott! You must be in a hurry."

Although the burglar call proved to be a fake, Officer Bishop stoutly avers that the leaping story is the absolute truth.

"Sure," he stated last night, when asked about the report. "I couldn't have got by any other way. I don't know how I did it, but I certainly passed in the air over that auto, just like that! If you don't believe it, ask the doctor!"

An effort was made to locate Dr. Cooke, but he could not be found.

MOTOR TRUCK CONTEST INDORSED BY DEALERS

The announcement in yesterday's Constitution of a commercial motor truck contest, which will demonstrate to the business people of Georgia the value of the motor truck commercially, was received enthusiastically by the dealers in Atlanta of the various trucks represented here, and numerous commendatory telegrams from automobile truck manufacturers throughout the country were sent The Constitution.

Automobile men were not the only ones to stamp this movement with their approval, but men in various other commercial enterprises were quick to realize the importance of such a movement, and give it their heartiest approbation.

Auxiliary to Good Roads Contest. This contest, projected by The Constitution, will be a logical auxiliary to the "Around Georgia Good Roads Contest," announced for the coming autumn, the second of these contests to be held by The Constitution, but this year the contests will be on an enlarged scale.

The arrangements for the details of this contest are now in the hands of experts, who are eminently qualified to work out the best plan under which it shall be conducted, and which will be announced as soon as perfected.

A representative of The Constitution called on the local agents of the eleven motor truck concerns who have agencies here, all of whom indorsed the contest heartily and were enthusiastic in pledging entries for their respective makes.

Carl Fort Approves Plan.

Carl W. Fort, of Carl W. Fort & Co., distributors for the Grann motor truck, was the first to respond to the movement, and left in The Constitution office early Friday morning the following letter:

"Editor Atlanta Constitution: We noticed in the paper this morning that you are to have a motor truck contest, and we would like to file our application for entry at once. We think this a good move, and you should have no trouble in getting up a contest of this kind. G. W. Hanson, president of the Georgia Motor Car Company, distributors for the Randolph truck, was enthusiastic over the prospect of the contest. "It is a great movement," he said, "and I am personally heartily in favor of it. I am sure that my factory will interest itself and enter several of its trucks in the contest. You have my heartiest congratulations and wishes for the utmost success in the venture."

A. L. Dunn, sales manager of the Interstate Sales Company, distributors for the Frayer-Miller blower-cooled truck, said: "It is a great idea. No contest will, in my opinion, create more favorable interest throughout the state than this contest. You can count on me as an entrant."

Chorus of Approvals. B. F. Ulmer, sales manager of the Southern Motor Car and Truck Company, distributors for the Reliance truck, said: "I find that the layman has to be educated along the line of advantages of motor trucks, and I believe that a contest of this nature will be a great step in that direction."

E. C. Steinhauer, of Steinhauer & Wright, distributors for the Packard truck, said: "For real information and benefit to both the automobile and the commercial world, this contest is a great step. I certainly will use my efforts to help make the movement a success."

C. H. Kelley, of the Kelley-Knight Motor Car Company, distributors for the Grabowsky truck, said: "I am heartily in favor of such a contest, and believe it will be of much benefit and interest. You can count on us for our support."

WEEK'S TRADE REVIEW.

New York, April 22.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say that while business sentiment is distinctly optimistic, there is no evidence of a general recovery in the process of extracting eight or nine billions of new products out of the soil. The review says that the cotton market is in a state of confusion and uncertainty in the financial market. There is a severe depression on bonds, the pressing needs of London, the continued large exports of gold from New York and the heavy merchandise imports into the United States, the over-production in pig iron, coke and copper leading to talk of curtailment of operations and some speculation caused by the remarkable political developments, both in England and the United States, produce confusion of opinion as to the immediate future. Yet there has been a notable abatement of the recent unrest of labor, with advances in wages by important corporations.

The crop prospects are, on the whole, considered to be excellent and are improving. The recent weather, while causing some damage in places, has, by increased moisture, been very beneficial elsewhere. There has been some readjustment of prices to a more nominal basis. This causes considerable irregularity in the textile industries, yet on the whole the dry goods trade, while conservative, is confident of a good year.

A better feeling prevails in the wool trade. In a number of important centers the business activity is reported to be up to full capacity, while in others where conditions are less favorable improvement is noted. The shoe trade continues gradually to expand.

It becomes increasingly evident that a general curtailment of pig iron production may develop in the near future, unless conditions in that market meet with some adjustment. The output of all grades is running steadily in excess of the demand and stocks naturally accumulate. A concerted movement has been made to reduce the production of coke, because of excessive supplies, and it is considered that similar developments in pig iron cannot be delayed very much longer.

Buyers of cotton goods are inclined to await developments in raw cotton before operating on convertible and other fabrics. Retailers are buying conservatively, but steadily. Jobbers hold out of the primary markets because of the uncertainty in cotton goods prices. Manufacturers generally are increasing their stocks. The conservatism in the primary dry goods markets is not reflected so strongly in distributing or retail channels.

Hester's World's Visible Supply
New Orleans, April 22.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton, made up from special cable and telegraphic advices, compares the figures of this week with last week, last year and the year before. It shows a decrease for the week just closed of $5,776, against a decrease
